DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1- are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being clearly anticipated by U.S. Patent No. 4,329,055 to Schaefer et al (hereafter Schaefer).

As to claims 1 and 15, Schaefer discloses an apparatus for varying the length of a beam of radiation including (see Figure 1):

an element (3) rotatably mounted about an axis (center axis 0), said element comprising two reflective surfaces in fixed relation to one another such that radiation is reflected between said reflective surfaces and out of the element (output to mirrors 4 and 5); and driving means for rotatably oscillating said element back and forth about said axis (not shown, see column 3, lines 27-68).

As to claim 4, Schaefer discloses small angle variations (see bottom of column 3; see also column 5, line 15).

As to claim 5, Schaefer discloses a solid optic with reflective surfaces (quartz piece, column 3, lines 9-11).

As to claim 6, Schaefer discloses treating the quartz faces with  $MgF_2$  (see bottom of column 2).

As to claim 7, Schaefer discloses a parallelepiped of length a and height b which could be configured rhombically.

As to claims 8 and 9, Schaefer discloses quartz, having a refractive index of approximately 1.46, greater than 1 and 1.2.

As to claims 10, 11, 13 and 14 Schaefer discloses reflective members configured to return the radiation (mirrors 4 and 5).

With further regard to claims 14, mirrors 4 and 5 can be configured where the radiation may be reflected four times.

As to claim 16, Schaeffer discloses radiation from a sample (via E, not shown) and a detector (via T, not shown).

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 2 and 3 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Schaefer as applied above.

As to claims 2 and 3, Schaefer is silent with respect to driving means for the optical member.

The Examiner takes Official Notice of the fact that it is extremely well known in the art to use galvanometers to drive oscillating, rotating optical elements as they provide direct and stable implementation of this motion.

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of invention to include such a galvanometer in the apparatus of Schaefer in order to achieve said advantage.

With further regard to claim 3, Schaefer discloses varying the speed to effect a linear relationship between path length and time (see columns 3 and 4).

Conclusion

"Several facts have been relied upon from the personal knowledge of the examiner about which the examiner took Official Notice. Applicant must seasonably challenge well known statements and statements based on personal knowledge when they are made by the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences. In re Selmi, 156 F.2d 96, 70 USPQ 197 (CCPA 1946); In re Fischer, 125 F.2d 725, 52 USPQ 473 (CCPA 1942). See also In re Boon, 439 F.2d 724, 169 USPQ 231 (CCPA 1971) (a challenge to the taking of judicial notice must contain adequate information or argument to create on its face a reasonable doubt regarding the circumstances justifying the judicial notice). If applicant does not seasonably traverse the well-known statement during examination, then the object of the well known statement is taken to be admitted prior art. In re Chevenard, 139 F.2d 71, 60 USPQ 239 (CCPA 1943). A seasonable challenge constitutes a demand for evidence made as soon as practicable during prosecution. Thus, applicant is charged with rebutting the well-known statement in the next reply after the Office action in which the well known statement was made."
